The School of Business Administration and the Office of Study Abroad proudly announce the Special Brussels Program for Spring 2005

- Where: Brussels, Belgium
- Who: You and fellow Marymount graduate students
- What: MSC 585 Global Operations Strategy – (3 credits)
- When: Spring semester 2005
- How: 4 class meetings prior to departure for Brussels and 2 class meetings upon return
- 1 full week in Brussels during spring break
 - formal class meetings to enhance the learning experience prior to prearranged visits to prominent Belgian companies and other organizations
 - free time to explore and learn about this vibrant and exciting culture located in the heart of continental Europe
- Dates: Pre-Brussels classes (6:30-9:15pm): Friday January 21st and 28th, February 11th and 25th
Brussels: Spring Break week of March 7th
Post-Brussels classes (6:30-9:15pm): Friday March 18th and April 1st
- Why: To understand Global Operations Strategy in a truly international context
To gain insights into the impact the European Union is having on international commerce
To experience a foreign culture but you don't have time for an entire semester abroad
To take advantage of an international learning opportunity before you graduate
Because you want a great way to try studying abroad that fits your schedule
- Cost: Course cost covered by full-time tuition, plus a program fee
- Deadline: Applications must be received by Dr. Nancy Furlow no later than October 15th 2004
- Contact: Dr. Nancy Furlow in the School of Business Administration, Ballston, (703) 284-5941
